ENTERTAINMENT: Falyne Lewing is a young Autistic Artist, well know for her portrayal of Michael Jackson. We are recognizing Autism Month with her performance.

"God blessed me to learn a lot from Michael and his art over the years, and these lessons are something I'll carry with me for the rest of my life. Michael Jackson left behind a legacy that continues to inspire change and connect people even long after his passing, and that is something that deserves to be remembered. His approach to how he worked with others to create the art behind this legacy has taught me something that I aimed to portray. I'll forever be grateful for Michael Jackson, he was wonderful person, an incomparable artist, and a gift from God!"
